TO-MORROW (Saturday), and SATURDAY NIGHT.

Such as we never before have offered, and no one else. We have done our best to hunt up goods at prices that will be a great benefit to the people and enable all to make a great saving in their purchases. We speak plainly and candidly to the public: Our trade is largely with the great number, the middle class, to whom the saving of a dollar means much. We are in full sympathy with the Philosophy of Jeremy Bentham, "The greatest good to the greatest number," and so our acts to-morrow will bear out our priciples.

capable but worthy of a second term. He will be elected and will add to his fame in the next four years. Every man in the land is familiar, with the achievements of Allen G. Thurman. He is a man whose thorough Democracy no one can doubt and whose name will add strength to the ticket. With two such men to bear the banner victory can never for a moment be in doubt.

"As to the tariff plank," continued Mr. Mills, "let me say that if I had framed it myself I think I should have written it differently. We are just now in the midst of a hot fight, and we need all the assistance we can summon. The moral effect of a thorough indorsement of our tariff bill can hardly be over-estimated. with great enthusiasm. The tariff plank, as described in yesterday's dispatches, was examined with great interest by members on both sides of the House. By the Democrate it was very generally indorsed as faithfully meeting the present crisis. Chairman Milis of the Ways and Means Committee, and one or two of his colleagues, who naturally feels peculiar affection for the tariff bill, regret that a warm indorsement of this measure was not incorporated in the platform. The general opinion, however, is that in emphatically indorsing the President's tariff message, the convention went quite as far as it could be expected to go, and that this action can have but a beneficial influence upon the Mills bill. A number of prominent members who were seen yesterday expressed themselves freely, both upon the strength of the ticket and the tariff plank as adopted.

Chairman Mills of the Ways and Means Committee said:

"Is not that looking a good way shead, No. sir, when you are talking of national questions. What are four years in the history of a nation? While I admit Mr. Cleveland is a strong man with the people, sood many things may happen sould entirely change what to some might now seem to be the inevitable result. If the lection of 1884 had been held in October intested of November, Mr. Blaine would have seen slected. But his party carried the camping of personal abuse to such extremes as of signst many people, and the reaction set in to such an extent as to lose to Mr. Blaine he btate of New York, and possibly one or we more; which otherwise he might have sarried."

A Sigh of Relief.

NEW YORK, June 8.—The completion of the ations and the adoption of the national tratic platform seem to have cleared the ere in business haunts as well as else atmosphere in business haunts as well as elsewhere. A great sigh of relief went up from wall and Broad streets yesterday when the news became known. There was a good deal of talk about a possible "corner" in Thurman bandanas, but it is highly probable that a decent regard for that fundamental Democratic principle, "the greatest good to the greatest number," will prevent any such unpatriotic stroke. The platform was received with enthusiasm wherever the business interests of the country were valued above the mere ambitions of party.

The California Press.

vention the Post (Republican) says: "The Committee on Platform recognized the truth that the party could not nominate Cieveland and carry water on both shoulders. Again, Cleveland has declared unequivocally for free trade and no shuffling or evasion in the tariff plank of the platform could save the party from the issue. Cleveland has been the steadfast foe of silver from the day he was elected, and the convention cannot place him upon a silver plank. With these two issues honestly before the people, without shuffling or evasion, the people will have the chance to indicate by their votes the policy they wish their representatives to enforce."

The Alta California (Democrat) referring to the acts of President Cleveland which entitle him to again be the standard bearer, says: "The President has provided for the permanent exclusion of the Chinese, but above all his example has sweetened and corrected politics. The masses of the party here thrill under his name as under no other." In reference to Thurman it says: "Age now cuts no figure, and so the St. Louis Convention has been enabled to select a veteran leader of the party and bring him into action. Thurman was always a good name to conjure with."

The Examiner (Democratic) says: "The momination of Thurman has proved even more strikingly than that of Cleveland, that when the people of this country have made up their minds to a thing they will have, their politicians may as well stand aside. Thurman means victory. He is the incarnation of that spirit new and yet old, which breathes through a fearless platform, and recalis the great days of Democracy before defeat had taught it to apologize for its principles. The Examiner rejoices especially in the work of the convention because the Examiner had so much to do with the result. Until it began to agistate the Thurman movement, the people had not begun to consider such a nomination of another candidate. We can redeem those pledges and we will."

The Examiner rejoices especially in the work of the convention disregarde

MEMPHIS, Tenn., June 8 .- The Appeal thus speaks of the platform: "It more than sus-tains the President. It makes his tariff reform tains the President. It makes his tariff reform message the key to the interpretation of the party's declaration on the tariff in 1894, and indorses the efforts now being made by our representatives in Washington to secure a reduction of taxation. It says nothing about reducing the internal revenue, and thus fixes the attention of the country and our national legislature upon customs revenue. This is all that the most exacting of tariff reformers could sak for and must have the effect of rearrousing the enthusiasm of the party, which was badly dampened by the reports that came from St. Louis on Wednesday night. It makes the inational Conventions, day night. It makes the National Convention the unit of the several State conventions, all of which is dorsed the President's tariff reform message and the Mills' bill, which is also indorsed by a special resolution adopted by the National Convention. Nothing could be fairer or broader than the plank which defines the polloy and spirit of purpose of the Democrate of the country in the matter of frugality and economy, reduction of taxes, the protection of the workingman in his home in what he eats and wears."

The sedenche says editorially: "With Cleveland and Thurman, the strongest members of the dominant party, as its nomines, the Democratic party could have ventured a much more emplatic declaration of its position on the tariff than that contained in the platform adopted at St. Louis. There has always been a certain degree of doubt as to the exact meaning of the tariff plank of the platform of ISSA, but so long as it was neemed proper to reiterate it, the convention should have stopped short after adding the indorsement of Cleveland's message. All that follow has a tendency to befog and confuse, or if it does nothing more, it gives opportunity for discussion as to the real meaning of the platform. It is not so straightforward and forceful as the country had the right to expect, nor will it be so easy for Democrats to defend its without 'looking around a corner,' as its framers so ingeniously declare."

Reswell P. Flower Talks.

CHICAGO, Ill., June 8.—Roswell P. Flower was seen at the Grand Pacific this morning.

"The nomination is the strongest one that could possibly be made," he said. "Nothing can keep the Democratic party from success on the present issue. The selection of Thurman silences every man who had even the slightest grievance against the Administration, and every man who was dissatisfied with the distribution of patronage. No one had more reason to feel sore than Allen G. G. Thurman. Cleveland brings into the campaign his magnificent and an increased vote in the State of New York. Thurman brings with him the united body of Democracy. The Pacific Coast has every reason to feel grateful to him for his vote on the Chinese bill and will be sold for the ticket. No mas can be nominated on the Republicant toket who will win if the fight is made on the present issue—tariff reform and reduction against high protective tariff."

"The Democrats are extremely likely to have all their own way at the next election. The Republicans have neither the man nor the class, as we pointed out yesterday. The old hausted and the Republicans are looking about for a new cry, which is not easy to find. Their still greater difficulty is to find a candidate who can make a good fight against the present President."

The Pall Mall Gazette speaks even of a third term as a matter of course: "A President who has been a success is almost sure to be nominated a second and a third time, and the danger of the proceeding will lie in his entourage and not in his personal greatness. If he governs well and wisely, only machine politicians are likely to oppose him. The point of the contest about which we feel the most interest in this country is the tariff question."

The Star says of the enthusiastic proceedings at St. Louis: "We may very well re-echo that enthusiasm on this side of the water, for the re-election of President Cleveland means the adoption of his programme of tariff revision and his ideas on that subject go a long way towards free trade."

MEMPHIS, Tenn., June 8.—The regular monthly crop report for the Memphis District which embraces West Tennessee, North Misissippi, North Arkansas and North Alabama to be published to-morrow by Hill, Fontaine & Co., will say: "The weather during May was not in the main favorable to cotton, cool weather which prevailed all during the month, retarded the growth of the plant and in some sections it was too dry. Generous rains have fallen throughout the district since many of the replies were sent in, which has improved the general condition of the plant, and notwithstanding the season is full two weeks later than last year, the plant is healthy and growing well, and, with favorable conditions in the future, a fine yield can reasonably be anticipated. The acreage planted in cotton shows an increase of 2% per cent. for the district. Alabama is credited with the largest increase, viz, 3% per cent. Stands in the main are good and labor throughout the district is in fair supply and working well. Corn like cotton is somewhat late and in about the same condition. There is an increased acreage planted of 1% per cent. Arkansas and Tennessee are, however, the only States that report an increase. THE BAKERS' STRIKE. More Men Called Out To-Day-Develop

The journeyman bakers are very indignar at the treatment they received at the hands of the Bakers' Protective Association last eventhe treatment they received at the hands of the Bakers' Protective Association last evening. The association refused to recognize the Union or to sign any contracts whatsoever. The Union got in three blows this morning in calling out the men at the Vienna Model Bakery, the Welle-Batter Bakery Co. and at Frank Bros. Fourteen men, headed by the foreman, struck at the Vienna Bakery, leaving it without a man to do the work. The Vienna management decided not to reinstate any of their old men, but to get new ones who did not belong to any union and break them into the business. Nearly all of the bakeries whose men had gone out have succeeded in getting others to take their places, and are, with the assistance of other bakeries, supplying the demands of their customers. The journeymen will hold a mass meeting at No. 1505 South Broadway on Sunday at 9a. m., and try to do something to bring the boss bakers to terms as they are determined to stick to the demand they decided on the day before yesterday. Three more of the smaller bakeries signed contracts presented by the journeymen this morning, and a committee which will report this evening has been out all day visiting the bakeries to get them to add their names to the contract. The members of the Protective Association are standing by the resolutions adopted yesterday, and will not concede anything to their men nor employ union men wherever there are any vacancies. LONDON, June 8.—London's great demon stration yesterday at St. James Hall against vernment's policy of coercion in Ireland, ought to be a sufficient answer to that the Liberal party is faltering in its allegiance to the principle of home rule, to which they have committed themselves. No question, not excepting even the burning one of the proposal to convert the value of the licenses into so much freehold audience so united, sanguine and enthusiastic Scores of Members of Parliament crowded the great platform, side by side with men of disfinction in every walk of life, and all Liberal pathy. An ironical request for three cheers for Salisbury and Balfour mei with groans both loud and deep. John Morley delivered an impressive address, full of buoyancy and hope, remarking that he much mistook the temper of his countrymen if, when thoroughly acquainted with the system of Government in Ireland, they would not consign to the wilderness those responsible for it. He declared that in any case, whatever constituencies might do, the duty of the Lib-erals was clear. Morley, who is far superior in cultivation to the great majority of English politicians, is rapidly developing the highest gifts as a popular ora-tor. Within the last few years he has stepped forward to the foremost rank in this respect. The audience was much moved by his graphic description of the persecution of the Irish members in prison, and his impassioned declaration that "if this is the law I will obey the law and shrink from the law, but respect the law, no, never!" which he delivered with fine effect, produced quite a frenzy of enthusiasm REFORMING THE LORDS. Lord Cadogan's motion for a committee t report on the standing orders of the House of Lords is understood to be with a view to the introduction of Salisbury's bill for the reform of that body, which will be brought forward next week. Salisbury proposes to create life peers and give power to the upper house to exclude its own black sheep. The proposed creation of life peers, consisting of men of eminence in the professions, is wittily described by Gladstone as "a government by the Athenæum Club."

ON A LONG JOURNEY.

The Blaine-Carnegie Party Starts on the LONDON, June 8 .- There was quite a gather ing of Americans in front of the Hotel Metro pole yesterday morning for the purpose of witnessing the departure of the Blaine-Car negle coaching party. All the hotels in the neighborhood of Trafalgar Square are now filled with American visitors and the greater sight of the dark-colored Carnegie mail coa white at once attracted a great crowd of London idlers when it first pulled up in front of the hotel at 10:30. The panels of the coach were ornamented with the "Stars and Stripes" crossed with the Union jack. Mr. Blaine was received blue overcoat and a dark traveling suit, topped by a high white hat. He appeared to be in high spirits and the best health as he walked swiftly through the crowd and climbed to his place on the box with the agility of a seat was taken, the party being made up as Mr. Carnegie had planned it in New York. There was no blowing of any horn at the start. Mr. Carnegie merely called out "Go ahead," and without even the cracking of the whip the coach dashed away amid cheering and waving of handkerchiefs for its 700 miles trip northward. Only thirty miles a day will be made. It will take nearly a month to accomplish the journey.

Mr. Blaine was asked by a number of his callers about the action of the convention at St. Louis. He, however, refused to say any-thing beyond the fact that the President had so clearly defined his position on the tariff of could change the issue. The route over which Mr. Carnegie's coach will travel is via Hertford, Cambridge, Ely, Grantham, Lincoln, Doncaster, York, Northallerton, Durham, Hepham, Cheviots, Hawyek, Edinburgh, Stirling, the Trossachs Fort William and Cluny Castle.

The Plaintiff Still Endeavoring to Show Wherein He Was Damaged and to What Extent-Citizens Who Testified in the Case To-Day-The Attendance Falling Off-Progress of the Trial. For the nineteenth day the slow grinding machinery of the law was set in motion in Judge Valliant's court-room this morning for the trial of the Lancaster-Glover $150,000 dam-age suit. The testimony of late has not been sufficiently sensational to draw the curious together in the hot-box that No. 5 has now become, and to-day's proceedings were opened to a slim audience, a wearled jury and a pa-

He defended both the methods and the nominees of the organization at some length, and swore that the defendant's general reputation for honesty had always been good. At the meetings of the organization that the most eminent men selected. Until this time the candidate was not approached nor called upon to pay an assessment. Witness could not remember any reason why Judge Gant had not received the support of the organization. He thought that candidates would have been supported even if they had been unable to pay their assessments, but would not distinctly specify the source from which this money might have otherwise emanated. After further examination the witness was excused and John Carroll called to the stand. He had been a member of the City Central Committee when Frost ran for Congress. Frost had been assessed $1,500, but this sum was afterwards reduced—just how it was difficult to learn from the low tones of the witness. However, the assessment had been reduced to $500 after some controversy between the Central and Congressional committees. On cross-examination the witness said he had never heard of any authority given R. D. Lancaster, who did not lile in Frost's district, to approach Frost with a demand for $1,500 before his nomination. Other candidates had been assessed to make the substitute of the same on the ticket after he had been nominated until he agreed to pay up, but witness did not remember whether clardy had not paid all his assessment. A STRANGE CONFLICT. Rev. Dr. Schaff's Fight With a Portion of

His Congregation.

By Telegraph to the Post-Disparch.

Karsas Citt, Mo., June 8.—The Rev. David
S. Schaff of this city is now engaged in a fight with a portion of the members of the First Presbyterian Church which owes its origin to a request by the pastor of a church subscription from a leading members. to a request by the pastor of a church subscription from a leading member of to a request by the pastor of a church subscription from a leading member of the congregation. Dr. Schaff is a son of the Rev. Philip Schaff, the famous biblical scholar of New York. He is the man who, when Jim Cummings, the noted desperado, was about to be hanged by a mob in Hastings, Neb., a number of years ago, braved the fury of the would-be lynchers, and, standing by Cummings' side, made such a remarkable appeal for justice that the mob finally reliaquished its murderous idea and permitted the Sherif to resume control of the wretch. Dr. Schaff came to Kansas City soon afterward and found the First Fresby-terian, occupying a barn-like edifice on Grand avenue. He put on his hustling clothes, and to-day, owing to his efforts, his parishioners worship in a 350,000 structure and sing to the accompaniment of a 56,000 organ. Two years ago, as alleged, Dr. Schaff asked one of his flock, who has held a local office, for a subscription toward defraying the expenses of replacing the roof of the church, which had been demolished by a cyclone. The individual feit aggrieved, and besides refusing to put up any funds, conceived a violent hatred for the pastor. This feeling was shared by the official's wife, who, it is alleged, was jealous of the fusilonship attired women who had been attracted to the church through Dr. Schaff's eloquence. In the old days she had been the pastor's life being irreproachable, they began, it is claimed, a series of attacks and in a short times number of women of the congregation joined her standard. It soon became evident to Pastor Schaff that something was wrong. At the weekly prayer-meetings he was given the cold aboulder and in various ways made to understand that he was not in favor. He soon discovered the cause and prepared to make a fight. The conflict has been going on for some time, and at present petitions and counter petitions, all bearing on his resignation.

R. A. Campbell, City Comptroller, was the next witness, but did not know whether he was the Campbell referred to as "Bob" in the Killian letter. He had never made a trip to New York ostensibly on city business, but really on a political mission for the defendant. Witness considered Lancaster's reputation good. When the witness was at Washington on the same trip, he said, in response to cross-examination by Mr. Glover, that his visit there on his way back to St. Louis was not for the purpose of advocating Lancaster's nomination. Senator Frye, who was a stranger to him, had sent for him, but not at the suggestion of the witness. Mr. Campbell repeated that the defendant's reputation was good, but that his political methods had been harshly criticised. All politicians were subject to such criticism, but he acknowledged that he himself as a public man had never been spoken of as harshly as had Lancaster.

Mr. Laughlin desired that the witness repeat the conversation held with Senator Frye, but at this point the oburt took a recess to 2 o'clock.

The accused took the stand in his tinued its sessions at the Navy Department yesterday. The accused took the stand in his own behalf and detailed the precautions against danger taken by him on the occasion of the target practice in question. He said he did not claim that he had any right to practice at target within the three-mile limit, but asserted that it had been a well-known usage and custom not only of ships of the American navy, but of other naval powers to have target practice within this limit, and it had never, in any instance within his knowledge, been prohibited or objected to by the Japanese authorities. On the contrary, it appeared that the Japanese Government recognized this as the usual custom, and in 1881 issued a letter of request to the consuls of the different foreign governments requesting them to notify commanders of ships that they should not have gun practice within the three-mile limit unless they should ask and obtain special permission. This order, it appeared, was not made public, and Capt. Selfridge testified that he was entirely ignorant of it, as were also Rear Admirals Davis and Chandler, who had commanded the squadron. He stated that the practice by him was had against the bluff and not in violation of any Japanese rights, but entirely from considerations of safery, as the sea for twenty-five miles, or as far as could be seen, was filled with fishing smacks, making it unsafe to have target practice in the open sea, and it was in the line of greater precaution that he selected this bluff as a barrier to stop the shells.

This ended the testimony for the defense, and Mr. Kent will begin his argument to-day. The court reconvened at 10 o'clock this morning and Mr. Kent began his argument at once. He spoke until 2 o'clock, when he was followed by Judge-Advocate Reid. The business of the court will probably be concluded to-morrow.

BALTIMORE, Md., June 8 .- T. Harrison Garett, a brother of Robert Garrett and manager of the banking firm of Robert Garrett & Sons of this city, was drowned last night in the Patapsco River. His yacht, the Gleam, in which he and a party of friends were coming to Baltimore from Annapolis, was run down off Seven Foot Knoll by the steamer Joppa and sunk, being struck amidship and almost cut in two. According to accounts all hands on the Gleam were rescued except Mr.

and sunk, being struck amidship and almost cut in two. According to accounts all hands on the Gleam were rescued except Mr. Garrett, who was seen by a passenger on the Joppa to fall overboard. The steamer Ste, Capt. Geoheghan came up to about four miles below Seven Foot Knoll, where he found the Joppa which signaled him and told him she had run into the Gleam and asked him to take the crew and the passengers to Baltimore. Capt. Geoheghan brought up Gen. R. Snowden Andrews, Geo. A. Von Lingen, two other passengers and Capt. Tory and the crew of the Gleam. The Joppa proceeded down the bay. The steward of the Gleam told Capt. Geoheghan that the last time he saw Mr. Garrett he was standing on the after deck of the Gleam on the after deck of the Gleam told Capt. Geoheghan that the last time he saw Mr. Garrett he was standing on the after deck of the Joppa which were hanging down and called the rest of his party to follow him, as he tried to climb up its side. Messrs. Andrews and Von Lingen were brought up to Baltimore, and the crew of the Gleam got off at Locust Point for a tug to go and get Mr. Garrett tried to climb up its side. Messrs. Andrews and Von Lingen were brought up to Baltimore, and the crew of the Gleam got off at Locust Point for a tug to go and get Mr. Garrett's body.

Capt. Geoheghan of the steamer Joppa laid to for three hours after she struck the yacht, and her captain and crew made every effort to recover the body of Mr. Garrett. Capt. Geoheghan reiterated the story that Mr. Garrett fell overbord from the bow of the steamer. He could have been saved had he remained aboard the yacht. As soon as the collision occurred both the crew of the Joppa and the Gleam went to work to rescue the passengers of the yacht. The lifeboat of the latter was manned and the passengers transferred to the steamer. The Gleam was expected at South street wharf last night and carriages were in waiting to convey Mr. Garrett and his guests to their homes. The Suerrett was a member of the Maryland Club and one of the directory he owned is unusually large and interesting, containing letters of nearly all the prominent historical personages from Washington to the present day.

The steamer Joppa belongs to the Maryland Steamboat Co. The Gleam was a steam yacht about one hundred and twenty feet in length. In regard to the responsibility for the accident there is scant information as yet. The captain of the yacht told Capt. Geoheghan he was coming up towards Seven Foot Knoll and gave the Joppa gave him two blasts to to the left. The collision resulted.

THE SAD NEWS IN BALTIMORE.

The news of the untimely death of her husband was broken to Mrs. Garrett shortly after the arrival in Baltimore this morning of the party who were with Mr. Garrett when the collision occurred. The members of her family are with her at he residence, "The Evergreens," and she is completely prostrated by the terrible and sudden visitation. The guests of Mr. Garrett were four in number. They were Gen. R. Snewden Andrews, a stock broker in this city, with extensive New York connections; Geo. Avon Lingen, the German Consul at Baltimore; Joshua G. Harvey, President of the Western National Bank, and Wm. H. Blackford, President of the Maryland Life Insurance Co. The party left Baltimore yesterday morning for Annapolis to witness the exercises of the Naval Acadamy. It is said that Mr. Garrett was clinging to the anchorchains when the shock occurred, and when the Joppa sheered off one of the Gleam's boats fell into the water, carrying Mr. Garrett with it. It is thought he must have been stunned by the blow and rendered unable to help himself. The Joppa remained by the wreck for three hours, searching for the body, Gen. Andrews offered the crews of the Joppa and Gleam $3,000 if they recovered Mr. Garrett with it. Is also missing. But no hope is held out that he could have got into it and been saved.

IS HE STRONGER OR WEAKER?

The Democratic National Convention has done its work. Ticket and platform are before the people, to be hailed with ndiscriminate laudation by one set of partisans and with indiscriminate aspersion by another set. These two sets, as the strictly partisan population of our country is now divided, will just about balance each other, and the question of chief interest at present is how will the convention's work strike the independent, thinking citizens who are neither camp-followers nor pot-hunters, but vote as they think best to secure the blessings of peaceful, economical, honest and safe government.

If it was this body of independent and conservative opinion which turned the scale in CLEVELAND'S favor four years ago, why should he not have a stronger hold on it now? He has not only been clear in his high office, laboriously faithful in the discharge of its duties and firm in requiring the same methods from his subordinates, but he has shown a courage and a grasp of public questions with a power of selfcontrol and party control greater than he was credited with when first elected. Those who feared that he would be as wax in the hands of a dangerous party have seen him by degrees acquiring over that party a mastery such as no Democratic President has wielded since the days of Jackson. The rebel debt has not been paid, nor any Treasury raid favored under his Administration. No act of his or of his party has either caused or past four months was (32,034) Thirty-two threatened to cause a business disturbance. In short, all the bugaboo cries that made timid souls fear a change of party ascendency can no longer scare any one. He has been tried and the masses of both parties feel that the country in his hands is at least safe and that under his lead and control his party is not the feroclous organization of conspirators and public enemies it was said to be. Upon such a record and with such a unanimous nomination for re-election from a convention representing over 30,000,000 of the people, there can be nothing but the issues raised by his policy and by the shortcomings of his Administration to prevent him from being a stronger candidate than he was before.

It depends upon the final shape given to these issues by the ticket and platform of the Chicago Convention whether the voting element which holds the balance of power between parties will be Democratic this time or Republican. If that element goes with the Republicans for a trust monopoly tariff, for surplus taxation and surplus squandering schemes and makes common cause with the land-grabbers and the great railroad kings in bringing about a Republican restoration, a Democratic defeat must follow. But the Chicago Convention must be a wonderfully adroit body and must have some wonderful candidate material at its disposal if it can effect such a combination of political forces.

on the subject of civil-service reform can not be fairly understood without remembering that four years ago such a thing the work of the convention is that it is as a Democrat in a Federal office was utterly unknown. The St. Louis National Democratic Conven tion is a thing of the past. Its exciting scenes and incidents will find place on the pages of American political history and be the subjects of anecdote among the delegates who partici-pated in the great convention. At the Laclede the cabinet of the veteral Democracy of Missouri, temporarily dislodged by the army of visitors, regained their corner in the rotunda, where the nominations of the convention were duly ratified and the freetrade platform put into actual practice in the passage of the plug of tobacco which a straggling visitor inadvertently produced.

The headquarters of the Citizens' Commit-tee, in the Bank of Commerce building wore a deserted appearance. Mr. John G. Shelton of the Citizens' Information Bureau was on hand early. He has been one of the busiest men in the city since the opening of the convention. Speaking of his branch of the work of

After the adjournment of the convention yesterday the work of packing up was begun at once, and the clubs and delegates having special trains scheduled to leave in advance of the regulars were soon ready to depart. THE EXODUS.

The greater portion of the delegates and visitors to the convention left the city vesterday. A number got left, however, and had to lay over until this morning. There was in no sense a rush to-day. On the other hand, travel was very ordinary. Badges and Cleveland hats were rather plentiful, but the styles of badges were mixed, all kinds being represented. Those who were there were all stragglers. Some had got left last night, and a few remained by preference. More missed their trains again this morning, and will have to remain until to-night. The man with the conserts, the bandana man and the man with the came were on hand with large stocks of their campaign wares, but they were not grabbed up, with the avidity with which they were during the convention. Only very few visitors are left in the city to-day, and nearly all of them will leave to-night.

who came to the convention in two special Pullman cars will not return to the coast for a month. They separate here, going to various points—North, South and East—on trips of business and pleasure. Several of the Californians will be in Washington on the Béth, at the meeting of the National Committee, after taking in the Republican Convention. They will then go to New York and start on the homeward trip about the last day of the present month. They are planning to meet at Portland, Ore., on July 6 and to go down to San Francisco together.

To-day the headquarters on the Broadway side of the Southern Hotel were closed. On an informal meeting of the delegates in town this morning it was decided to present to each member of the Citizens' Reception Committee which looked after the California delegation with a case of wine.

Early this morning a force of carpenters under the direction of Architect Kledus began the reconstruction of Convention Hall to suit the requirements of the National Saengerfest. The press boxes, official stenographer's stand and speaker's have been torn away. The chairs have been removed from the flat occupied by the delegates to make room for the extension of the stage, which will extend over that portion of the hall to accommodate the grand chorus.

To make room for the stage the boxes in the eastern end of the sub-galleries will be removed and only those portions of the sub-galleries well back in the hall will be left standing.

After disposing of some matters of minor importance the committee adjourned to meet at Washington on the 26th inst. for permanent organization.

It is understood that there will be a struggle for supremacy in the National Committee, which will largely direct the conduct of the campaign. If Senator Gorman or Mr. Barnum can control the selection of the chairman and hold with them a working majority the campaign will not have the free trade complexion that will be given if (f.W. F. THE VISITORS WERE "DANDIES." lotel Men Say They Never Entertained So

After the adjournment of the convention vesterday the hotels and boarding-houses were the scene of busy activity. Delegates were rushing to and fro, bidding farewell to the friends they had made since their arrival announcing their speedy return, inquiring concerning the hour of departure of their trains, securing their sleeping berths, packing their trunks, paying their bills and arranging for transportation to the depot. The hotel clerks were worked nearly to death, the waiters and porters rushed around in wild excitement, there was a tremendous demand for carriages, the wires were overloaded with messages and the sleepers were crowded to their utmost capacity. Had it not been for the remarkable good nature displayed by the departing delegates, a great deal of confusion and unpleasantness would have resulted, but every one seemed to appreciate the exigencies of the situation and manifested a strong desire to give as little trouble as possible. announcing their speedy return, inquiring rated, the debris of the great gathering removed and the hosteiries once more put into every-day attire.

The extra employes engaged for the convention were paid off this morning with the exception of a few who have been temporarily retained to assist in putting the houses in order, and this was no small task, as they numbered from 150 in the larger hotels to twenty or thirty in the smaller. Fully 2,000 people were engaged for work during the convention, 90 per cent of whom were discharged this morning. Some were re-employed for the Saengarfest, bar-keepers being in especial demand. The character of the service furnished by untrained assistants was on all hands stated to be remarkable for its excellence, and one of the most notable features of the late gathering was the honesty of those having access to the rooms generally abandoned by their owners during the day. Hardly a single complaint of loss by pilitering was made, and the police, who were stationed along the corridors and had especial orders to be on the lookout for piliterers, found their position a sineours.

THE POLICE ENTHUSIASTIC.

From the police the same report of general good conduct on the part of the delegates was made. Although a large amount of liquor was consumed, drunkenness was the rare exception and disorderly or violent conduct was almost unknown. Officers stationed in the center of the city said that never before had so large a concourse been so law-abiding, and that the breaches of law were rarer than when only the ordinary population is in the city. Scarcely a breach of the peace was recorded, the visitors seemed inclined to aid rather than hamper the authorities, absolutely no wanton destruction was done anywhere, and altogether the concourse might serve as a model upon which it would be practically impossible so improve.

CONVENTION TICKETS.

Charges Preferred Against a Police Captain in Connection With Them. Two affidavits against Capt. Henry Frangel

of the Second District were filed with Chief Huebler yesterday afternoon, and the charges Board Tuesday next. Both grow out of trouble the Captain had at the Exposition during the convention, he being charged with taking convention, he being charged with taking tickets from citizens. One affidavit is made by A. Hartman of No. 2899 McNair avenue. Be avers that yesterday morning at 9:30 o'clock he was approached by a police officer on duty at the building who requested him to exchange some convention tickets with a lady. She had a party of eight and four of her seats were in "A" and four in "B." Hartman had four "A" seats and the officer wanted him to give his four "A" seats and the officer wanted him to give his four "A" seats to the lady for her four "B" seats, so she would have all her seats in "A." As the "B" seats were on the Olive street side and the preferable location, the "A" seats being on the Fourteenth street side, Hartman says he gladly complied with the officer's request and accommodated the lady. Immediately after he had made the exchange he says Capt. Frangel came up and wanted to know where he got the tickets. He told him he had no business with them and snatched them from Hartman's hand. In doing so he tore two of the coupons off the tickets. Then the Cantain lad Hartman to the tickets office them from Hartman's hand. In doing so he tore two of the coupons off the tickets. Then the Captain led Hartman to the ticket office and turned him over to a policeman who was stationed thers. He released him in a moment and told Hartman he could go. The latter in-quired where his tickets were, and Frangel told him to go,saying: "It is an infernal shame that you should have four tickets." Sergi. Hannas-

Figures Showing What Convention Visitors

The amount of money spent at the bars during convention week is something unprecedented in the history of St. Louis. A great majority of the delegations, notably the Californians and the Tammany Hall contingent, came to the city amply supplied with liquid refreshments, which were freely dispensed to visitors, but this had apparently little effect on the outside trade, as without exception the hotel bars and saloons made the largest sales in their history. Even more remarkable, and what under the circumstances may be considered truly phenomenal, was the insignificant amount of drunkenness. One and all state in the most emphatic manner that a more sober and orderly concourse had never assembled in this city. How it was no one could explain, but the report from all quarters was that, while the consumption of intoxicants was unprecedented, the resultant intoxication was not enough to be taken into account, and most disproportionately and inexplicably small when the quantity of liquor consumed was taken into consideration. Thorough seasoning was the only solution of the difficulty, a way out of the dilemma which the general appearance and bearing of the delegates seemed to contradict.

MOTEL HAR RECEITS.

At the Southern, where the greatest number of delegates were assembled, the sales were very large, amounting to a little over $5,000 between Monday and Thursday, both inclusive. The heaviest day was Tuesday, when more than eighteen hundred dollars was taken over the bar, the other days being about equal to each other, averaging over fourteen hundred dollars. A beer counter was opened in connection with the regular bar, but received comparstively little patronage. The favorite tipple was whisky in an undiluted and unimproved form. Next in popularity came min juleps, which were especially favored by Kentuckians and Virginians. Whisky punches, cocktails and various other compounds were by no means neglected, and the call for liquors and on the other days about $500. No estimate has been made as yet of the money taken in at the race track. The Planters' bars took in more on solid drinks than they did on beer, the number of beer drinkers being small compared with the number who took whisky and other liquors.

THE BEER SALOONS.

Faust's was the headquarters of such as preferred the fluid sacred to Gambrinus. Within twenty-four hours 156 kegs of beer were sold, yielding more than $850. The sales of liquors would swell this amount to over $1,000, the largest day's business ever done at Faust's corner. The total receipts for the week were more than $3,500 for beer and liquors, the restaurant not being taken into account.

About $800 would not cover the amount that passed over the bar of the Richelieu during the four days, the most rushing business being done on Tuesday, when $263 were paid for the cup that cheers, and also occasionally insbriates.

Other saloons make a similar showing, all saying that more money was spent during the four days from Monday to Thursday inclusive than during any previous week in the history of St. Louis.

Bessehl's saloon and Annax had as good a run as they ever have had since the saloon was started. It was about nip and tuck between the beer and liquor bars. The Annax doing aboutias much business as the saloon. Mr. Bessehl places his receipts for the four days ending yesterday at between $3,000 and $3,500. Tuesday was the biggest day of the four, a greater part of the business being brought in by the parade. The receipts on that day were about $1,000 for both bars. A number of extra barkeepers were put on and the beer counter extended several feet to accommodate the patrons.

At Froebel's the biggest day was on Tuesday, when they took over the bar about $500. The other three days ran on an average as

In 1840, when St. Louis was emerging from obscurity of a French village into an rican city, the Protestant Free School ciation was formed, including among its y advocates and ablest supporters several abers of the Presbyterian and other ohes. A small frame building was erected on the corner of Sixth and Carr stree as a public free school, and in it will organized the germ of Biddle Market Mission School, the first mission Sabbath ol in the city of St. Louis and Commonwealth of Missouri. It was composed of twenty scholars and five teachers. Mr. Thos. P. Webb, then employed by the Protestant Association as public school teacher, aided in Fourteenth and Carr streets. Several attempts were made to burn the building but in vain and the little school flourished. June II, 1848, Mr. Morrison became identified with the school, and for forty years has labored in the humble cause. In July, 1855, the school was removed to Biddle Market Hall. Crowds thronged its limited space and $5,000 was spent in enlarging it. Through Mr. Morrison's efforts the church at Sixteenth and Carr streets was built, and after many reverses was at last secured to the school. The exercises on Sunday will take place in the church. The following programme will be carried out, beginning at 2:30 p. m., with Gen. E. A. More presiding: Doxology; reading the Scripture, Rev. Wm. H. Clagett; prayer, Rev. Wm. the instruments were removed. Among these were the two telephones at the Exposition the Secretary's office. Manager Durant said, when asked to give a list of the expiring contracts: "I cannot do that. The subscribers are suffering enough by the loss of their instruments." He seemed to think the publication of the fact of the removal of an instrument would add polgnancy to the pain of the subscriber.

"Our position in this matter is misunderstood," he continued. "An ordinance has been passed requiring us to accept $50 per year as the maximum charge for telephones. We cannot do that. So we have resolved to quit business. The subscribers will suffer from the loss of the telephones, but we are the greatest sufferers. If we went on furnishing tele phones at $100 per year we would be subject to fine for every contract. "We shall take them out. We will take out all the telephones. We will quit business."

"You will not allow your subscribers to evade the ordinance by paying you the old rate if they wish to do so?"

"No, we cannot do that. Almost every subscriber would rather pay the $100 than lose the telephone and all sorts of devices have been suggested to us. One man wanted to have two telephones hung up in his place beside the one he used and pay us $50 for each one. That would only be an evasion of the law, and until the Supreme Court decides it to be invalid, as we hold it is, we will not do any business."

"Could you not have continued business and made contracts for $100 per year pending the determination of the appeal you have taken in the Bohle case?"

"We might have done so, but we would be liable to fine for every contract, and in order to appeal the cases would be required to give bond for double the amount of the fine. Eventually all the real estate in St. Louis would be needed for the bonds."

"Have any other Bell telephone companies in the country adopted your plan in fights with cities?"

"The same question has never been presented before except in Indiana. There the Legislature passed a law limiting telephone charges to $36 per year. The smaller exchanges in the State were dismantied, and in Indianapolis the law was evaded in this way: The companies adopted a toll system, charging subscribers so much per hundred calls. They really converted subscribers into agents. The proceeds from the use of telephones under this system amounted to about the same as the subscription rate before the law was passed."

Judge Lubke to-day rendered a decision some interest in the case of George Barrie vs.

Ernst C. Janssen. This action was founded upon a contract signed by Mr. Janssen, whereby he subscribed for and agreed to purappointed teachers for the coming school term. The appointments are as follows: High School—Charles Manners, principal, salary $100 per month; J. J. McGlynn, assistant, salary $85. Clay School—Archase one copy of an art publication. The price of the work agreed to be paid was $200 and by the terms of the contract it was to be delivered in ten sec-tions, for each one of which upon the delivery astant, salary $85. Clay School—Arthur O'Leary, principal, salary $85; Miss Lizzie Bergen, first assistant, salary $86; Miss Lizzie Bergen, first assistant, salary $80; Mamie Bunyan, second assistant, $45; Minnie Montgomery and Ruth McDonald, $40; Lilite Sullivan and Delia Flaherty, $35. Upper School—Charles Carrol, principal, $86; Lilite Sullivan and Delia Flaherty, $35. Upper School—Charles Carrol, principal, $85; Miss Mary Dwyer, first assistant, $60; Kate Lacey, second assistant, $45; Mamie Maloney and Mollie Connelly, $45; Nellie Hickson, $36, and Amelia Clasquin, $35. Franklin School—W. G. Padfield, principal, $96; Miss Mamie Carney, first assistant, $60; Kate Kelly, $35. Webster—James S. Edwards, Principal, $35; Mary Tracy, first assistant, $40; Kate Kelly, $35. Broadway—Charles Zittel, Principal, $35, Broadway—Charles Zittel, Principal, $35, J. D. Suess, first assistant, $70; Miss Carrie Leightner, $45; Miss Annie Steinert, first assistant, $60; Freedricka Kelf, second assistant, $40; Lizzie Meinsohn, $55. Lincoln School—Richard Syron, principal, $35; Mrs. Virginia Robinson, $55; Miss Julia McGowen and Lizzie Fogerty were appointed substitute teachers, the former at $45 and the latter at $35.

A superintendent was not appointed, the the defendant agreed to pay $30. When the drst section was tendered the defendant refused to receive it and repudiated the confore a justice for $200. That case was taken to the Circuit Court and after a trial on amended complaint judgcosts. The plaintiff then tendered the other nine sections of the work, and upon the de-fendant's refusal to accept them he brought suit for $180, holding ready for delivery the entire work. The defendant took the ground that the judgment for $30 in the first case was equivalent to an award of damages for his breach of the whole contract and that the action was barred by acceptance and Lizzie Fogerty were appointed substitute teachers, the former at $45 and the latter at $35.

A superintendent was not appointed, the board being unable to make a selection. It is reported that several members of the board were in favor of appointing Frank Rafter superintendent, but as there was strong opposition to him a vote was not taken. Among the noteworthy changes made was the failure to re-appoint Prof. M. A. Sullivan Principal of the Clay School, Miss Murphy, Principal of the Franklin School and Miss Marie Warren, First Assistant at the Upper School. The appointments as a whole, it is claimed, show that the present board, although elected for the purpose of reform, considered policy more than competency. There has been a great deal of opposition to Prof. M. A. Sullivan, but it was due more to politics than anything else. It is an acknowledged fact that he has taken more interest in the schools than any other teacher. All the school entertainments were gotten up by him and he always labored zealously to have the pupils make a creditable showing, but because his political affiliations were not pleasing to influential parties who supported and worked for the new members of the School Board he was dropped from the rolls. Miss Warren was one of the best teachers that ever held a position in the East St. Louis schools, but with other good teachers she was not appointed. The salaries of all the teachers were slightly reduced, the aggregate reduction amounting to about $300. court proceeded upon the theory that the contract was divisible and that, hirings, where the rent or' reward are payable in periodical installments, a suit for install-ments accrued will not bar action for later installments. Since, however, the Court of Apwas an entire thing, Judge Lubke's ays: "Loyalty to the Court of Appeals requires that this court should recede from the views expressed in the former case. The judgment in this case must conform to the views of the appellate court. But for that decision this court would be obliged to find against the defendant for the $180 since the judgment in the former case is conclusive against the defendant as to the binding effect of the contract and there was no conflict of evidence upon the proposition of fact that the other nine sections have now been properly tendered. Judgment is entered for the defendant. was an entire thing, Judge Lubke

The Schroeder Divorce Case.

Judge Dillon to-day heard the testimony in the contested divorce case of Mrs. Mary E. Schroeder against William H. Schroeder. The Mayor M. Stephens, who in county politics is a mugwump, but a straight Democrat on national issues, returned home last night from St. Louis greatly enthused over the nomination of Allan G. Thurman for Vice-President, and was in his hotel in the Fourth Ward expressing his gratification over the nomination when City Attorney E. R. Davis and Alderman W. E. Henderdropped in. The conversation presumably turned to city affairs and the Mayor it is said displayed considerable bad feeling towards Davis and Henderalso. The language used by the disputants was so load that a number were attracted by it, and parties who claim they witnessed what occurred. Peopted this morning that the Mayor struck Davis in the mouth, and was making for Hender with a chair when others interfered and prevented the row from becoming more serious. The Mayor was not at his office this morning, and was not seen in regard to the affair, and City Attorney Davis was also sought at his office, but not found.

Remarkable Reception Given a Deposed Pastor by Polish Catholies.

DETROIT, Mich., June 8.-Two years and a half ago, Father Kolasinski, paster of the Polish Catholic Church of St. Albertus, was half ago, Father Kolasinski, pastor of the Polish Catholic Church of St. Albertus, was accused of divers offenses and deposed by Bishop Borgess. A series of riots followed, in which some blood was shed and the whole town was kept in a high pitch of excitement for many weeks. Kolasinski finally went to to Dakota. He left behind him here between 5,000 and 6,000 adherents who formed a kind of band and vowed not to be content till their priest was restored to them. Last week it was announced that Bishop Borgess would officiate in St. Albertus' Church June 24. This caused the Kolasinskians intense uneasiness. Having sworn that the Bishop who deprived them of their beloved pastor should never officiate in his old place, they sent for Kolasinski, who arrived yesterday. He was given a remarkable reception. Over 6,000 Poles, one-half of them women, fought with each other to get near the priest, kissed the hem of his garments, the ground on which he walked, and prostrated thomselves before him. A lot of women, sobbing as if their hearts would break, lifted their idol upon their shoulders and bore him to the parish school-bouse, where they held a grand and disorterly leves. Kolasinski says he will be reinstated by Bishop Borgess' successor. A collision is expected to occur between the Kolasinskians and Dombrowskites, who are the Bishop's supporters.

In yesterday's issue of the Freshelt Mors announces the birth of the new paper and urges all honest Anarchists to support it. In the same number he replies at length to the charges recently made against him in the Hammer, the official organ of the metal-workers of America. The Hammer referred to Most and his followers as an objectionable element in American politics, and cautioned all decent workingmen to beware of their teachings. Most in his reply says that the article in question emanated from a German journalist of this city, and that the arguments put forth in it are so absurd that he does not think it worth his while to reply to them. He berates the German journalist soundly and chuckles over the idea that a paper like the Hammer can do any injury to a paper like the Freshelt.

REV. FATHER J. J. BOYLE TELLS A QUEER STORY IN THE LOCK-UP.

A Priest From Winchester, Ill., Arrested This Morning On a Charge of Attempting to Kill Mamie Rogers, Explains His Plight—A Woman Who Talked About Reform, Bet Did Not Act According to Her Fretensions.

Rev. Father James J. Boyle, a Roman Catholic priest of Winchester, Ill., is in a Four Courts calaboose cell to day on a charge of raising a disturbance in a disreputable house. Last night Mamie Rogers, who keeps a house on Elm street, called in Officer Carr to arrest a man whom she alleged had struck her and tried to shoot her. The man was Rev. Father Boyle, who was in the house with a companion. They had been painting the town, and both were boisterously drunk. The woman showed the policeman a swollen jaw, which she claimed was caused by a blow from the lest's fist. She pretended the man was as a ger to her, although it was evident to the lest's fist. FIRST PRESBYTEBIAN CHURCH.

Plans Adopted—Arrangements for Buildings
—Other Big Improvements.

A vigorously contested competition among ocal and non-resident architects to secure the four prizes offered by the building committee of the First Presbyterian Church for the most approved sketch for their new edifice of worship, to be erected on the southwest of Washington avenue and Sarah corner of Washington avenue and Sarah street, was closed yesterday. The first premium, $300, was awarded to J. G. Cairns of this city. Albert Swassy captured the second prize, $150; Irwin G. Thayer took the third, $100 and the fourth prize, $30, was given to Eames & Young.

The Building Committee, who awarded these prizes, are Messrs. Daniel Catlin, James Riobardson, R. M. Blossom, B. D. Lee, W. C. Wilson, Dr. George E. Martin and Wm. McMullen.

Mulien.

These gentlemen rejected a detailed set of drawings for the structure which had been prepared for them by one of the non-resident competing architectural firms more than two months since, mainly owing to the fact that the cost of the building contemplated in the design exceeded the prescribed cost of the edifice by at least $12,000.

In consequence of this failure to keep within bounds of the proposed expense, competition was invited and the local architects prevailed over all outside competitors.

was invited and the local architects prevailed over all outside competitors.

The building, exclusive of all plumbing, gasfitting, heating aparatus or furnishing of any kind, will cost $50,000, and as much more will be required to complete it ready for service. It will cover an area of 80x183 feet on the lot of 116x250 feet donated, at an expense of $11,500, by Mrs. Eliza McKee and her daughter. The order of its architecture is Romanesque, a prominent feature of 754y feet above the pavement, all of which will be carried up in quarry-faced blue limestone. There will be an auditorium with a seating capacity of 750, a chapel to seat 200 persons, two parlors, two dressing rooms, two toliet rooms, and a kitchen. The improvement is to be commenced forthwith, and it is to be completed within nine months.

Mr. D. M. Houser's architect. Chas. K.

Mr. D. M. Houser's architect, Chas. K. Mr. D. M. Houser's architect, Chas. K. Ramsey, says he is now nearly ready to receive estimates of the cost of the building which Mr. Houser is going to erect on the northwest corner of Broadway and Chestnut street. The structure will be eight stories high with a frontage of 41 by a depth of 129 feet.

A set of drawings for a very handsome residence, to be erected on Lindell avenue, south side, west of Boyle, are now approaching completion in the office of J. B. Legg & Co. This house, which will cost not less than $25,000, is going to be constructed by T. J. Prossor on the lot recently purchased by him for a home place.

Cheap or Dear.

A question of importance to every house-hold or purchaser of merchandise is whether the articles they buy are cheap or dear. In these days, where so many so-called "cheap" goods are "sered on the market at ingly low pages, they are calculated to deceive the public. An article costing a dollar that will last only three months, is much dearer than a better article of the same kind costing $1.25 which will last six months or a year.

The first never gives satisfaction; the second always does. If you want to buy a good re-frigerator, that will be thoroughly satisfactory, not only for a season, but for years to quality is always assured and substantially quaranteed, and you will certainly buy cheaper than you can by going to outside stores, who have simply added some lowpriced line of inferior goods and who may not deal in the article two years successively.

The Simmons Hardware Co. has entire con it as the very best made, every one guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction, at prices which are exceedingly low.

The rule of the house is "one price for all,"

to people to visit their store.

The rule of "good quality" applies to other seasonable goods, commonly classed as housefurnishing goods. The Simmons Hardware Co. never sell inferior goods, but confine selves to articles possessing intrinsic merit, which will give satisfaction to the consumer for all time to come. Their White Mountain Ice Cream Freezers

tand ahead of all others In Children's Carriages they handle only Whitney's, which last longer, stand more wear and tear, are more graceful, lighter, better finished and more durable than others When you want reliable goods in the way of hardware and house-furnishing goods, visit the corner of Ninth and Washingt SIMMONS HARDWARE CO.

ECLECTIC PHYSICIANS.

A Convention on the Water-Pro

the Annual Meeting.

The Eclectic Medical Society began its annual session in St. Louis on Wednesday, and that evening left on the steamer Spread Eagle for Grafton. During the evening a session heard and essays read on medical subjects. Amendments to the constitution were dis-cussed and two adopted. The annual dues were raised from $1 to $3 and the annual meeting was set for the first Wednesday in June, call of the chair. After the session of the society an alumn! society of the American Medical College, 810 North Eleventh street, 8t. Louis, was formed with H. L. Henderson of St. Louis, President; M. M. Hamlin, Gray's Summit, Secretary, and E. L. Stanley, 8t. Louis, Treasurer. These officers were constituted a committee to prepare constituted and the wharf yesterday morning at 9 o'clock. At 10 o'clock another session was held at the college, and routine business was transacted. In the afternoon the following officers were elected: H. L. Hendersonfof St. Louis, President; A. V. Thorp, Jamestown, Mo., Secretary; E. Youkin, St. Louis, Treasurer. Delegates were appointed to the National Convention which meets in Detroit June 20, and at 5 o'clock the convention adjourned.

CLOSE OF THE RACES.

THE SPRING MEETING WILL END TO-MOR-ROW WITH A BIG BILL.

ng of the Vestal and Granite Mountai Handicap Stakes—The Sale of the Whites
—Fall of Cincinnati—Sporting Matters—

The spring meeting which has been held for the past two weeks at the Fair Grounds will ose to-morrow with a programme altogether in keeping with the big stakes and purses contested for thus far. The features of the racing to-morrow will be the running of the two big stakes which have been reserved for the last day. The first of these is the Vestal stakes of $1,000 in added money and the second the Granite Mountain Mining Co.'s handicap stakes of a whose name the stake bears. The programme will be as follows:

First race—Purse, $600, of which $100 to second and $50 to third; for horses that have run and not won at this meeting. Maidens allowed $pounds. Seven furlongs.

Second race—Adolphus Busch of $t. Louis, of which $100 to second and $50 to third. Horses entered to be sold for $2,000, weight for age; then 1 pound allowed for each $100 to $1,000; then 2 pounds for each $100 less. Horses beaten at this meeting once, allowed 3 pounds; twice or more, 5 pounds; twice or more and not placed, 7 pounds. One mile.

Third race—The Vestal stakes, $1,000, for 2-year-old fillies (foals of 1886); $50 each to accompany the entry and $100 additional to start, with $1,000 added, of which $200 to second, and the third horse to save entrance and starting fee; the winner of stakes or purses to the value of $5 000 this season to carry 5 ba tonia were Kermesse, Teresa, Marshall Luke, Ten Broeck, Jr., Gallifet, Gladiator.

The winners at Jerome Park were Prince Royal, Joseph, Lelogas, Emperor of Norfolk, Belvidere.

The Browns Go Under Again.

The Browns yesterday succumbed to the Brooklyn Club at Washington Park. The batteries were Devlin and Boyle for St. Louis and Hughes and Bushong for Brooklyn. St. Louis scored 2 runs, 6 hits and 14 errors, and Brook-lyn 11 runs, 9 hits and 5 errors.

postponed games with Kansas City. On Wednesday the Louisvilles return for a series of three games, after which the Cincinnatis come for a similar series. The Browns went East third in the championship race and will, no doubt, come back second. Cincinnati, whom almost everybody thought would have a walk-away when they struck East, actually won one game, losing two to Baltimore and four straight to Brooklyn and Philadelphia. McPhee will join them to-morrow and the Browns will have another hard fight on their hands.

The Sale of the Whites.

President Von der Ahe has been the recipient of two surprise parties recently in the intelligence conveyed by the newspapers as to the sale of the St. Louis Whites.

"The truth of the matter is," said he this of the house is "one price for all," rice so low as to make it an object to visit their store.

The Trouble With Cincinnati.

Before coming East the Cincinnati team was onsidered a powerful aggregation of ball players, and there was a great deal of talk about "wagon-tongue slugging" and "sure champions," says the Philadelphia News. champions," says the Philadelphia News. Since the team began its Eastern tour it has been dropping at startlingly lively rate. Out of the eight games played on the tour the Porkopolitans have been beaten seven times, and unless there is some bracing up the trip will wind up with but few more victories. The cause for this bad showing must be hunted out by the management. It looks as though Gus Schmeitz has found a partial reason at least for some of the bad work done by the team, for Baldwin, the "Kid," as he is called, was yesterday fined $100 and suspended indefinitely by Manager Schmeitz for "indifferent playing." The expression "indifferent playing." The expression "indifferent playing" covers a great deal, and the cause of bad work is probably what has drawn the fine and suspension on Kid. Perhaps Manager Schmeitz has found the trouble, and there is little doubt that he will make every effort to remedy it.

Grand Stand Chat.

Kansas City plays just one game here next eek, on Tuesday. Fred Dunlap says the championship lies be-ween Chicago, New York and Boston. Jerry Denny of Indianapolis has declared imself. He wants to play with New York. The race for the pennant in the American association is now what it should have been ssociation is now what it should have be ome years ago.
"Internal dissension and insubordination are the reasons assigned for the poor work of the Cleveland Club. McCarthy about leads the association in base-running. He is the embodiment of "steal away softly."

M. H. Davidson, the Secretary of the Louis-ville Club, has bought out that institution lock, stock and barrel. The Cincinnati Reds are going down hill at a rapid gait and Brooklyn is getting a good hold on first place.—[Louisville Commercial. The pitcher that goes oft to the well is broken. E. Smith of Cincinnati said he heard it before, but never believed it until last Saturday.—Toledo Bee.

The Cincinnatis are on the down grade. The four defeats at the hands of the Brooklyns has taken a good deal of conceit out of them.—[Louisville Post.

them.—[Louisville Post.

Mickey Weich's arm is all right, but his side has given out. Mickey has a pretty bad side, and says that he will not be able to pitch for some days. It seems to be the same old trouble of hot season.

What with releasing Broughton, sending Lady Baldwin home with the advice to learn to pitch, and shipping Sutcliffe to the same destination, and fining Hanlon $10 for not sliding to a base, it looks as if Watkins was still manager of the Detroits.

Cincinnati is keeping up her record. Ever since the first year of the Association the Reds have joined hands with old Col. Hollow-Eyed Defeat, and gone tumbling down the ladder. They are failing like the descending stick of a rocket just now.—[New Orleans States.]

The Kansas City team is no snap. They have secured a victory from every team in the Association except the Browns. "Biddy" Moffhee was out to the Latonia Races Wednesday. He is able to walk about, and will be well enough to go in the game Saturday against the Browns.

well enough to go in the game Saturday against the Browns.

Speaking of the Association fight, Comiskey says: "Either the Brooklyns or the Browns will win the pennant. The Cincinnatis have commenced to drop and will continue to drop. They have three fine batteries and that is all they have. They were playing a dirty game of ball, and as long as they were on their own grounds that kind of a game went, but now that they have got away from Cincinnatise how they are losing. They are weakeners. As long as they are in the lead they are all right, but just as soon as their opponents get the lead they weaken."—[New York Press.

Hoy, whenever the Washington Club arrives in town, always hunts up the mute asylums in the place and visits them. During the recent visit to Indianapolis Schoch accompanied him at Dummy's request. Schoch is not an expert as yet in dummy language, and whenever they talk too fast he can not read it. Hoy played a joke on him on arriving at the place by introducing Schoch as another dummy. The superintendent took George through the building and the dummies crowded around him and talked at a 2:10 gait. Schoch vainly endeavored to keep it up, and finally yelled: "I am no dummy!" They heard him, of course, and after he kept it up for some time he finally hastened outside. When he recovered the use of his fingers he swore in the dummy language to Hoy.—[Pittsburg Chronicle Telegraph.

THE Ohio & Mississippi Raliway transporte every organized club coming to this city to at-tend the National Democratic Convention from Cincinnati, and every club coming to St. Louis through Cincinnati came over the Ohio & Mississippi Railway. At least a dozen special trains were run. Remarkable time was made with them, the longest running time for the 341 miles being less than ten hours, and from that down to nine hours. The O. & M. management understands how to get the good will of the public and retain it. For the Knights of Pythias Convention, to be held in Cincinnati next week, several special rains will be run, and the best of accommo dations provided. The O. & M. Railway people insist that I cent per mile is high enough rate for large bodies attending conventions, and it is to the officers of the O. & M. that we are indebted for the low rate from the East as well as the low rates to Cincinnati for the Knights of Pythias and to Columbus, O., for the Grand Army of the Republic.
